

Government: Chicco Testa, 'ministry transition? better a central cabinet'

Roma, 10 Feb. - (Adnkronos) "I believe that the merger of the ministries of Environment and Economic Development is a good thing; it has been discussed many times but never implemented because no one has ever wanted to give up one of the two ministries". Chicco Testa, president of Fise Assoambiente, says to Adnkronos commenting on the proposal of Beppe Grillo of a super ministry for ecological transition.

A ministry for ecological transition, however, according to Testa, would be very demanding, for this "it would be more opportune to have a strong coordination point at the Presidency of the Council to coordinate activities and to overcome the various conflicts between the administrations of the state".
